Competence workshop 2023

OG21 conducted 1 June 2023 a workshop on competence needs and challenges. Almost 50 people from OG21 and stakeholders participated.

The workshop was part of a larger OG21 deep-dive study this year on energy supply security from the Norwegian Continental Shelf. It focused on three main competence challenges:

1. Recruitment to STEM studies at Norwegian universities
2. Recruitment of talent to energy industries
3. People development and life-long learning in the industry

A summary of the group work focusing on these three challenges, is now available.

The results from the group work has been included in the updated OG21 report on competence challenges. A draft of this report was presented in the workshop.
